CALGARY'S
FOOTHILLS INDUSTRIAL ESTATE IN CANADA'S FASTEST GROWING CITY

CAN PROVIDE ANY SIZE INDUSTRIAL PACKAGE

ASK THE CALGARY INDUSTRIAL TEAM

K. S. Ford, Industrial Co-ordinator, Tom Potts, Assistant Co-ordinator and Site Specialist, and Roy Harris, Market Research Specialist - to wrap up a "giant economy" industrial site for you in Calgary's Foothills Industrial Estate.

Calgary is strategically located at the "Crossroads of Canada", on the Trans Canada Highway and Number 2 Highway North to Alaska.

Get the BIG package zoned for heavy industry ... the small size with or without trackage for light industry ... or something made to the measure of your particular needs. The low package price for industrial sites in Calgary's Foothills Industrial Estate - including city water, storm sewer, deep base road, curb and gutter, rail lead and joint rail service with interswitching - is $6,500 an acre. And that's "giant economy" in anybody's size package!

Edmonton (pop. 400,000), Capital of Alberta.

Alberta's Population Centre Now 32 Miles South of Edmonton

With the northward trend of population and industry, Edmonton is now the industrial, wholesale and retail centre of Alberta — the economic centre of Western Canada.

The traffic pattern of Western Canada will be drastically changed by the opening in 1967 of the new trans-continental highway (Yellowhead Route) on which Edmonton is the major city.

Edmonton is Canada's fifth largest retail market (865,000 people).

Industrial Development Commission of Greater Vancouver

WHERE ALL THE FACTORS FOR INDUSTRIAL GROWTH ARE PRESENT . . .

1. Resources, abundant and diversified
2. Unlimited fresh water, power and fuel
3. Splendid sites
4. Pivotal World Transport Position
5. Year-round Deepsea Port Facilities
6. Excellent Skilled Labour Supply
7. Equable climate
8. Educational Advantages
9. Ideal Recreational Opportunities
10. Social and Economic Stability

YOU CAN INVEST IN THE CERTAINTY OF EXPANDING OPPORTUNITIES FOR SUCCESS

The communities of Greater Vancouver in the Lower Mainland of beautiful British Columbia offer all of the elements associated with industrial greatness. Already one of the great seaport centres and a transport crossways of the world, Greater Vancouver feels today the economic impetus of vastly expanding forest and mining industries, agriculture and fishing. It serves as economic capital of a region where some of the world's greatest pulp and paper, mining and power projects are currently being developed.

The Industrial Development Commission of Greater Vancouver exists to help interested persons learn more about how to locate in or make licensing arrangements to become part of the future of one of the most dynamically progressive regions of the world.

- Seaway route eliminates transfer costs on intermediate carriers.
- Frequent sailings and prompt cargo handling speed export/import shipments.
- The port's unexcelled terminal facilities (including fireproof warehouses and floating crane with 75 ton lift) assure lowest handling costs and increased cargo protection.
- Super highway and rail networks radiate from port throughout Southern Ontario, "the industrial heart of Canada."

ELECTRICITY A-PLENTY

Quebec's electrical needs have grown by leaps and bounds in the last fifteen years. Construction projects rise everywhere. Industry expands at an unprecedented rate: 50% since 1950. And the lifeblood of all this activity is electric power. Demand doubles every seven or eight years, as compared with every ten years in the immediate post-war period.

Determined to meet future challenges, Hydro-Quebec in 1966 completed two new power plants, accelerated construction of the now famous Manicouagan-Aux Outardes complex, intensified work in the Abitibi region, doubled the capacity of Tracy thermal station, started work on Quebec's first nuclear power station, 250,000-kW Gentilly, and gave the green light to studies of yet another atomic plant with a capacity of more than one million kilowatts. In addition, to satisfy industry's needs in the immediate future, Hydro-Quebec has signed an agreement to purchase virtually all the power from the future Churchill Falls station in Labrador, i.e. approximately 30 billion kilowatthours per year.

GUIDE TO CLASSIFIED INDEX

☆ THE METHOD OF INDEXING the material on the succeeding pages is that by which the most important word in headings is generally placed first. The arrangement then proceeds in the proper alphabetical order. In the majority of cases it will be found that the noun or main name comes first, i.e.—Furniture, bedroom; Hardware, builders'; Leather, boot and shoe upper, etc. This allows the grouping of all similar articles close together. In other cases, where the inversion seems unnatural, the headings have been listed as they run—Air Appliances; Fire Escapes, etc. If any difficulty is experienced in locating desired headings or articles, users of the book should try both forms of listing. This will enable the heading to be found if it appears in the book at all.

In all cases we have endeavored to use the names most commonly known. It is possible that we have listed some products and materials under names that differ from those that our subscribers use. Synonyms will therefore be useful to bear in mind.

Cross references have been supplied where two or more names are commonly used to describe the same article.

Street addresses of the firms listed in the classified section are provided where necessary in the alphabetical list of names (on green sheets) immediately preceding the Geographical Section.

Attention is also called to the French Index of articles (Section F) on green paper, which is placed immediately after the Services and Farm Produce Section (Section E). In limited editions a Spanish Index or a Portuguese Index appears instead of the French Index.

Firms before whose name a star appears have intimated that they are engaged or seriously interested in Export Trade.

We shall be glad to have the opportunity of giving additional information to any manufacturer or user of the Canadian Trade Index. No charge is made for this service.
